Information

The Dr. Heidemanns-Bergweiler Estate has 12 ha (~30 acres) of Riesling vineyards in the steeply-sloped Middle-Mosel area. More than 75% of our vineyards are marked as „Steillage“. The vineyard soils are mostly Devon slate residual soils with varying parts of topsoil and mineral stone. The slate gives our wines a delicate and cool minerality which is typical for a Moselle Riesling. The combination of cool climate, slate and Riesling makes our wines unique. and cool minerality which is typical for a Moselle Riesling.
